Betreff: Nominations for Spring 2021 - University of Iceland

Dear Partner,

Warm greetings from the University of Iceland. We hope that you are all safe and well.

This autumn, The University of Iceland is committed to complying with the recommendations of the Chief Epidemiologist and other authorities in relation to the COVID19 pandemic. Online teaching will form the foundation of the semester, but we also focus on options for on-campus learning particularly for new students (including exchange students).

We are currently preparing for Semester 2 mobility, Spring 2021 and accepting nominations for exchange. The nomination deadline is 15 September. We hope that Spring 2021 will be a return to normal and that we can look forward to welcoming more students to the University of Iceland. We will however still organise teaching at the University with regards to recommendations of the Chief Epidemiologist and other authorities.

The University has a webpage in English where students and staff can find information on the measures the University of Iceland is taking concerning COVID19 pandemic <https://english.hi.is/covid>

The Directorate of Health and The Department of Civil Protection and Emergency Management are responsible for a website which has detailed information COVID 19, including information for anyone visiting Iceland. This website is up to date and so we would advise you students interested in coming to Iceland to follow this website <https://www.covid.is/english>

We will forward guidance on the specifics of the Spring semester once that is established in the coming months.

Bestu kveðjur/Best regards.
